Cleaning up after storm

Members of the Sedalia Street department spent a good part of their workday Tuesday cleaning up fallen trees around the city. Saturday night's storm caused extensive damage to many large trees. This tree at 1208 South Lamine was felled by high winds. Mrs. K.L. Shirley, owner of the house, said she was afraid it would blow into her home. Mrs. Shirley estimated that the sugar maple tree was over 200 years old and over 70-feet tall before the mishap.

New coal contract negotiations begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coal industry opened critical contract talks today with both union and industry officials expressing optimism about avoiding a crippling strike in November.

United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller presented the union's shopping list of demands ranging from a call for substantial wage increases to improving safety in the mines.

Miller told the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the industry's bargaining arm, that "the surest guarantee of labor peace" was for the industry "to recognize that its financial future is secure and that its profits must be shared with the men who produce them."

Walter C. Wallace, the industry's chief negotiator, said he was confident of reaching a peaceful settlement before the current three-year contract expires Nov. 12.

Referring to the union's demands, he said, "It's a big package and will take a lot of consideration and negotiation." He added, however, that the industry also has a responsibility to cooperate with President Ford's fight against inflation.

The initial bargaining session lasted less than two hours and was recessed to allow the operators to study the union's list of some 200 bargaining proposals. The union represents about 120,000 miners who produce about 75 per cent of the nation's coal.

Specific wage proposals were not discussed. Miller later told a news conference that pay increases for miners now averaging about $44 a day would depend on resolution of fringe benefit proposals which, among other things, call for sick pay, supplemental unemployment benefits, improved pensions and holidays.

Miller said the UMW was prepared during the next 10 weeks "to engage in intensive, good faith negotiations with industry representatives on the basic problems facing the American coal miner and the American coal industry."

Miller met privately with President Ford on Monday at the White House's invitation, a session which underscored the administration's concern over the contract talks. Although both sides are hopeful of reaching a peaceful settlement, most industry officials expect a strike.

Details of the union's proposals have not yet been released, but spokesmen have said the package is broad enough to allow UMW negotiators plenty of bargaining room.

But while some areas are open to bargaining, the industry team is expected to face hard union positions on certain issues that will form the core of Miller's proposals. Among them are:

—Wages. Because of inflation, Miller wants wages advanced from the present $42.50-$50 range. He feels industry can afford higher pay now that coal prices are soaring with the energy crunch. The union also wants an escalator clause to cope with rising consumer prices.

—Mine Safety. The UMW wants to broaden and clarify the rights of mine safety committees to shut down mine sections when conditions are considered unsafe.

—Job Bidding. The union wants promotions strictly on the basis of seniority, while industry prefers a qualifications system. This could be one of the stickiest issues, as promotions have been one of the most frequent causes of wildcat strikes that plague the mines.

Additional prime issues will be streamlined grievance procedures, sick pay (the miners currently have none) and increased per-ton royalties paid by the companies into the miners' Welfare and Retirement Fund.

Two killed, 12 injured

Two persons were killed and 12 injured in auto accidents in the Sedalia area during the Labor Day weekend. This raises the total traffic deaths inside the city limits to two during 1974 and 10 within Pettis County.

A Sedalia man was killed when a car he was riding in was struck by another car on West Saline near Mill around 2:03 Monday afternoon.

Earl Buckner, 21, 301 East Jefferson, was pronounced dead a few minutes after he arrived by ambulance at Bothwell Hospital.

Buckner was a passenger in a car driven by John Simms, 205 East Jefferson. Simms apparently lost control of the vehicle and it skidded into the path of a car driven by Francis E. Cramer, 409 North Summit, according to police.

Cramer and his wife, Alice, were treated at the hospital for lacerations and released at Bothwell. Simms suffered facial lacerations and was also treated and released.

Three other passengers in the Simms car were also injured. Edward Newbill, 29, was listed by the hospital as having possible internal injuries and was in good condition at noon Tuesday. David Green, 24, also had possible internal injuries and a fractured back. He was also listed in good condition. Richard Cline, 34, was admitted to the hospital for observation.

The Sedalia fire department was called to the accident scene because of a possible fire. Firemen assisted police in removing the victims. Both vehicles were listed by police as demolished and towed from the scene. No summons has been issued.

A Lawrence, Kan., woman was killed in another accident around 4 p.m. Monday southwest of Sedalia at the intersection of Highway 127 and Route Y.

Ann Edwards, 27, was pronounced dead at Bothwell Hospital following the collision between cars driven by Charles Clark, 23, Gravois Mills, and Jerry Reise, Knob Noster.

Miss Edwards was a passenger in the Clark car. Clark suffered fractured jaws and was in surgery at noon Tuesday. Reise suffered head injuries and was treated at Bothwell and transferred to Whiteman AFB Hospital. Two passengers in the Reise auto, Margie Austin, 37, and Kelly Renaeu, both of Knob Noster, suffered injuries and were taken to Whiteman.

The State Highway Patrol reported that Clark was traveling north on 127 when Reise apparently ran a stop sign on Route Y and struck the Clark vehicle. Both cars then went off the road and overturned.

Sedalia police also reported that two persons were injured at 11:06 a.m. Sunday in an accident at Moniteau and Cooper.

Eunice Fulcher, 67, 310 West Morgan and Evelynn Hollins, 24, 500½ West Cooper, were reported by police to be injured. Neither was taken to Bothwell Hospital for treatment.

Congress is facing controversial issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders seeking to bolster the record of the 93rd Congress are eyeing national health insurance and tax revision as two top priority items in the closing weeks of the session.

But any chance of action in these controversial areas runs headlong into the desire of most members of Congress to end the 1974 session before the Nov. 5 elections.

Most of the leaders concede there is no chance of getting legislation on either subject to President Ford unless the session reconvenes after the elections.

The Senate returns Wednesday from a Labor Day recess, and the House resumes a week later.

Congress has considerable other business remaining and it is doubtful that it can meet its Oct. 15 target date for adjournment even if it shelves health insurance and major tax legislation.

The House Ways and Means Committee has been struggling with the complexities of national health insurance for weeks.

Before the recess, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., threw up his hands and said it did not seem possible to reach a satisfactory compromise this year.

But Senate sponsors of measures in the field say they have not given up hope. In his first speech to Congress as President, Ford asked on Aug. 12 for passage of a health insurance bill during this Congress.

Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., are still pushing their proposal to protect some families hardest hit by medical bills.

It would guard all persons against the huge costs of a catastrophic illness and would improve the present program of health benefits for low-income families.

Ways and Means has written a far-reaching tax bill, and Mills has pledge to get it through the House in September.

However, it seems unlikely that the Senate Finance Committee could conduct hearings on this measure, draft its own version, and get it passed by the Senate and into conference with the House before December.

Some members argue that all Congress can do this year is to pass those provisions of the House bill aimed at windfall oil-company profits.

The legislators also might be forced to return after the elections to complete work on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be Vice President if his extensive financial holdings lead to lengthy hearings.

Congress still has to send to the President 7 of the 14 appropriations bills needed to run the government in the present fiscal year.

Hurricane heading back to open water

MERIDA, Mexico (AP) — Hurricane Carmen lost much of its force early today as it crossed the Yucatan peninsula and headed into the Gulf of Mexico, but was expected to regain strength as it moved over open water.

Three dead were reported in its path.

At 9 a.m. EDT, the storm's center was just east of Campeche, Mexico, at latitude 20 north and longitude 90 west. Forecasters said Carmen was drifting northward at about 5 m.p.h. and the storm's movements would be erratic for the next 24 hours.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said Carmen was still weakening and was not expected to start building strength until the center moved out over the Gulf of Mexico late today.

Forecasters said it was too early to say which land areas might be threatened once Carmen reached the Gulf, and marine interests around the Yucatan and southern Gulf of Mexico were warned to be alert for future advisories on the storm.

"We'll have to wait for it to get over the water again and see how much of a system we have before we can think downstream to see if it will threaten people," said Neal Frank, hurricane center director.

Heavy rains were reported over most of the Yucatan Penninsula today, with winds up to 50 m.p.h. reported at Merida, Mexico. Because the storm was moving slowly, the rainfall would continue over the Yucatan posibly into Wednesday. Local flooding was expected.

With top winds of 175 miles per hour as it hit Yucatan's east coast Monday, Carmen was the strongest storm to come out of the western Caribbean since Hurricane Hattie in 1961. But though Hattie killed 250 persons in Belize, the capital of what was then British Honduras, the only casualties reported so far from Carmen were three persons drowned last weekend near Kingston, Jamaica.

Carmen hit Yucatan in the southern part of the state of Quintana Roo, and Gov. David Gutierrez reported late Monday night: "We have material damage such as destroyed homes, fallen trees and electric and telephone lines. But there are no victims."

The governor said he was sending plane crews today to two villages on the coast that had not been heard from.

Other sketchy reports from Chetumal, the capital of Quintana Roo, said at least 2,300 of the town's 10,000 people had been driven from their homes, and tides were 15 feet above normal.

Grand jury to be sworn in to probe festival

A Pettis County grand jury was to be sworn in at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday to investigate the recent Ozark Music Festival.

In the petition for the grand jury, it is said "opium, hashish, marijuana, LSD, amphetamines and numerous other substances ... were openly and notoriously sold to and used by many of the approzimately 160,000" persons at the festival.

The petition also says the promoters of the festival used advertising in such a way as to encourage the use of controlled substances in violation of Missouri law.

William Hopkins, 1610 West 13th; Paul Moore, LaMonte; Sam Tuck, Houstonia; David G. Curry, 509 West Broadway; E. G. Kehde Jr., Route 3; George W. Ray, 421 East 15th; Bill N. Glenn, Route 5; Kenneth U. Love Jr., 104 Southwest Blvd. Ct.; Bob L. McDonald, 2602 Skyline Dr.; Alice Horn, Route 2; Jo Ann Harvey, Hughesville; and Dorotha Durley, 1812 West Fourth.

On school attendance

Telegrams urge reconsideration

Telegrams urging the Sedalia Board of Education to reconsider its decision last week to require all students in a northeast Sedalia neighborhood to attend Heber Hunt elementary school this year were sent this weekend to board members by officials of the St. Louis regional office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The board's decision specifically covered 12 local black students in the neighborhood who were initially told to register at Heber Hunt for the coming school year. Eight of the children attended Striped College school last year. After meeting last Monday with representatives of the local NAACP, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Allan Henningsen changed the policy, allowing parents of the children the option of sending their children to Heber Hunt or Striped College.

The board's decision Tuesday night, however, reversed Henningsen's move. The board and Henningsen defended their action on the grounds that an unnecessarily long bus ride and time schedule is needed to transport the children from the northeast area of town to Striped College, at the extreme southeast end of town.

Commenting on the telegram, Henningsen Tuesday challenged the regional NAACP's request for the school board "to reconsider the decision of barring black children from enrolling in Striped College elementary school."

"We have not barred any black student from attending Striped College," Henningsen said. "If they live in the Striped College attendance area, they will go to Striped College. If they don't, they won't.

"...Sedalia 200 has seven elementary centers, all predominantly white, with specific stated boundaries for attendance purposes," he continued. "Any students whose parents live within the assigned boundaries will attend that elementary unit."

In a press release accompanying a copy of the telegram, the NAACP regional officials inferred that students from the Georgetown area are also traveling comparatively long routes on buses.

"There is nothing we can do about that," Henningsen sated. "They live approximately five or six miles from our nearest school."

School board member Dr. Chester Kirkpatrick Monday said "I don't see any reason now to reconsider our decision." He added, however, hat "we'll probably discuss the matter again."

FTC announces GAC settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission announced acceptance today of a negotiated settlement which is the commission's opening wedge in a broad investigation of the $6-billion-a-year land development business.

The five-member commission unanimously approved the settlement despite complaints from other law enforcement officials that the FTC was going too easy on GAC Corp. of Miami.

In originally proposing the settlement last March, the FTC had cited GAC with using misleading tactics in selling land in Florida and Arizona. Much of the land is in Florida and cost buyers $1,500 to $2,000 per parcel.

The commission has about 30 other land developers under investigation.

The settlement, which was offered for public comment before final action, required GAC to provide buyers with cash refunds valued at about $2.8 million and replacements in other GAC developments for lots valued at $14 million.

The refund provisions were attacked as too meager by the Iowa attorney general and the interstate land sales office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The HUD agency, which administers federal laws requiring registration and full disclosure by land developers, estimated the $2.8 million in cash refunds would be inconsequential compared to the $30 million lost over the last six years by GAC customers who stopped paying on their property.

The FTC provisions covered only a fraction of the customers who stopped payment because it permitted GAC to keep the down payment and first 30 monthly payments as the company's cost of selling the land.

Groceries still higher

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Higher prices for everything from peanut butter to pork chops helped push up the family grocery bill again during August, according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The survey showed that the marketbasket has risen 11 per cent so far this year and prices are 14 per cent higher than they were 12 months ago.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest check, at the start of the Labor Day weekend, provided little encouragement for consumers.

More than 40 per cent of the total number of items checked went up during August. Eggs were up in every city checked — although they generally were cheaper than a year ago when $1-a-dozen eggs prompted consumers to seek other sources of protein.

Sugar continued its seemingly relentless rise, increasing in 11 cities during August. Pork chops were up in eight cities, reflecting higher prices paid to farmers for their hogs. Peanut butter, which had remained fairly steady in price, went up in six cities last month. Coffee was up in eight cities.

The AP survey showed that during August the marketbasket went up in every city surveyed except Dallas, Tex., where it dropped by a penny or a fraction of 1 per cent. The average increase was 4½ per cent. During July, the AP marketbasket rose in all 13 cities.

On the average, the bill for the marketbasket was 23 per cent higher than it was on March 1, 1973; 14 per cent higher than it was on Sept. 1, 1973; and 11 per cent higher than it was on Jan. 1, 1974.

The Agriculture Department says that food prices will continue to rise during the rest of 1974, but at a slower rate than previously. The department recently upped its estimate of how much the over-all 1974 increase would be, boosting it from 12 to 15 per cent because of the recent drought that damaged the corn crop and is expected to mean higher prices for meat, milk and poultry.

The sugar increases have been the largest in the AP marketbasket. Since last September, the price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar has risen an average of 143 per cent, jumping from 74 cents to $1.80. The increases ranged from 129 per cent in Boston, where the price went from 79 cents to $1.81, to 202 per cent in Atlanta, where it rose from 64 cents to $1.93 over the 12-month period.

During August, the price of sugar was up in 11 cities, rising an average of 6 per cent, and unchanged in one city. In the 13th city, sugar was unavailable on one of the check dates.

Grade-A medium white eggs went up in all 13 cities during August, rising an average 12 per cent. But in every city except Albuquerque, N.M., they were lower than they were last September, down 19 per cent.

The AP survey covered Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The items on the checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, detergent, fabric softener, butter, eggs, peanut butter, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

Polly's pointers

Change fumblers irk this driver

By POLLY CRAMER

I have many Pet Peeves but one of the most annoying is with people leaving a performance of any kind, getting in their cars and inching their way up to the parking ticket window and then having to get out a billfold or purse for money and perhaps wait for their change. The wear and tear on the nerves of those in the cars behind would be helped if people had their money ready. Also think of all the gasoline wasted while all those motors are running.

Olive asked for an inexpensive and unique way to paper her sewing room walls. She should inquire at some store that sells patterns. They might give or sell inexpensively some of their out-dated large pattern books. These large pages could be used to paper her walls either butted against each other in straight rows across and up and down or in a staggered effect like tiles are sometimes placed. — MRS. H.I.A.

DEAR POLLY and Olive — An idea my mother used in my bedroom at home and in those of my brothers might be used by Olive in her sewing room. Mother put paneling on two walls and burlap covered the other two. In a small sewing room just burlap on all four walls would doubtless be great. My room had off-white burlap but Olive could use any of the colors that are available. Always remember the color of the paint or paper underneath is going to peep through a tiny bit. When I left home it just happened that Mother turned my old room into her sewing room and found the burlap great. She could pin her patterns up conveniently to where her sewing machine is placed. After six years the room still looks terrific. — CONNIE.

DEAR POLLY — If the pages of your cook book always seem to be flipping when you are trying to follow a recipe fasten it in place by putting a large rubber band over the opened pages and the back of the book. — CARRIE.

DEAR POLLY — When a container of roll-on deodorant is almost empty and refuses to roll out I place the container in hot water for a few minutes. The warmth thins the remaining deodorant so it rolls out easily. As a result none is wasted. Every bit can be used by warming the container each time until it is empty. — LOUISE.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — First, I would like to know if any reader can tell me how to remove a candlewax stain from a piece of antique marble. I have tried using a cloth soaked in bleach and scouring cleanser. They did not work.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Husband-hunters want suggestions

Dear Ann: I hope you received some good suggestions for "Are There Any Decent Men Left?" She wanted to know where the divorcees and widows in your reading audience met their second husbands. You said you'd print the best letters.

Five girl friends plus myself are eagerly waiting. We've spent a small fortune eating lunch in restaurants where successful businessmen dine. Church groups bored us silly. Finally, we were forced to go to cocktail lounges just to meet somebody to talk to.

Please, Ann, let's hear what those winners have to say. — Michigan Losers

Dear Mich: Here are suggestions literally from Maine to Spain. Please note I'm not endorsing them; I'm merely printing them — as promised.

From Portland, Maine: I met my second husband when I wrecked his car. He lived in the same block. I backed out of my driveway and the rear end of my Toyota rammed into the grillwork of his Lincoln Continental. It was the best accident I ever had. He was so calm and understanding I fell for him at once. We were married within four months.

From Seville, Spain: I'm writing this on my honeymoon. I met my second husband in a hospital corridor. His wife and my husband were both dying of cancer. We saw one another every day for weeks, under the worst possible conditions. I admired his courage and devotion, and he felt the same way about me.

I attended his wife's funeral on a Monday and he came to my husband's funeral two weeks later. Within six months we were married. if ever there was the perfect pair, it's us. — From The Ashes

From Nassua, Bahamas: Any woman who thinks she's going to find a husband in a bowling league is crazy. Men who love to bowl aren't looking at anything but the pins and the alley.

I wasted three months on "hobby groups" before I finally got smart. The way to meet a second husband is to travel. Lonely men (with money) take cruises and plane tours. I met mine on a charter flight to Europe. It cost me under $300 and I came home with a ring! As you can see, we are still traveling.

From Las Vegas: I met my second husband when my uncle died and left me an expensive set of golf clubs. I placed an ad in the Las Vegas Sun. Within three days I was swamped with "prospects." Six men who showed up invited me to dinner. I chose my second husband out of the six. (He bought the clubs!) — Bonus Sale

From Chicago: Three months after my divorce I was the loneliest, most miserable woman in the world. A friend suggested that I go with her to a meeting of "Parents Without Partners." I said, "Me? Never."

Two weeks later I changed my mind. That's where I met the most marvelous man in the world. We are being married in September. — Alone No Longer

From Billings: A woman who wants to find a husband should move out of Washington, D.C. to Billings, Montana. — From Ms. To Mrs.

New York City: Husband-hunters should buy a single share of stock in some blue chip companies and attend the stockholders' meetings. It's a perfect way to meet solvent men. — Living Proof

Bulk aids natural elimination reflex

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate your comments about elimination. The problem affects the majority of humans and becomes more of a problem as age creeps upon us. It is inadvisable to become used to catharites, yet it is difficult to establish a natural elimination pattern. Our daily lives are so hectic we cannot heed "nature's call' as we rush to the office, or are busy on the phone or with customers.

I read recently that if one takes a tablespoon of pure apple cider vinegar in a glass of cold water upon arising it will start elimination 20 minutes after. Does this tend to thin our blood, and will this be harmful to us older retired folks? I drink eight glasses of water a day yet elimination doesn't seem easier.

Dear Reader — No, the glass of water and cider will not harm you. However, it will not be any better than a glass of fruit juice or other liquids for breakfast. I favor a good breakfast containing whole cereal and at least two glasses of fluid. The urge that occurs naturally then in 15 to 30 minutes is a natural reflex, stimulated by the stomach being filled. It is called the gastrocolic reflex. When trained and used it is a good way to develop good bowel habits.

While I think it is a good idea to drink a reasonable amount of water, it is of limited value in improving bowel habits. The reason is that the water you drink will be absorbed through the small intestine into the bloodstream. Any excess water you have is filtered out through the kidneys. So, drinking lots of water causes you to pass lots of urine but has little effect on the bowel functions. Its main benefits are in distending the stomach and initiating the gastrocolic reflex. This is a temporary reaction. Incidentally, since the kidneys flush out extra water, the water and cider will not thin your blood.

To improve bowel function you need a training program and diet that includes adequate amounts of bulk. The bulk in the solid foods you eat, not water, is essential to normal bowel function.

Dear Dr. Lamb — What causes swelling of the stomach?

Dear Reader — A common cause is having missed your period for nine months. Seriously, the common causes other than pregnancy are food, flatulence (gas), fluid and tumor.

Gas is probably one of the main causes. But that is usually temporary. Fat is probably the leading cause. There is fat inside the abdominal cavity as well as outside. This usually goes along with a lack of muscle tone that leads to the big middle.

Fluid accumulates in many women before their menses and they will notice the increase in girth. It also accumulates in some illnesses, such as liver disease or in some forms of heart disease.

Tumor can cause enlargement of the abdomen. The spleen, for example, in some illnesses can become enormous. — (NEA)

Arrest man for investigation of pistol theft

Frank Bryan Jr., Route 2, was turned over to a Cooper County sheriff's deputy after being held by the police. Bryan was picked up at 2405 East 10th at 7:35 p.m. Sunday.

Police also reported that Ronnie Temple, 1404 South Grand, reported that a stereo component system, valued at $875, was stolen from his home sometime over the weekend. Entry to the house was gained through a rear window.

About $400 damage was done by vandals to a house at 1524 Honeysuckle owned by W. J. Foote, 1010 East 20th. Foote told police that paint had been poured on the floors of three rooms of the vacant house.

Johnnie Vinson, owner of Vinson's Market, 2700 South Ingram, reported to police that his store was broken into sometime Sunday night. An undetermined amount of money was taken from two pin ball machines in the store. Eight cartons of cigarettes and a calculator were also taken in the break-in. Value for the items was set at $80.

An employe of Sedalia Neon Co., 108 South Lamine, reported that four oxygen and acetylene gauges, a hose and a torch cutting head were stolen from a company truck parked on the lot next to the building. The theft occurred sometime over the weekend. No value was set for the loss.

Over $11,000 is collected for the MDA

A total of $11,701 in cash and pledges was received this weekend by the Mid-Mizzou chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

R. L. Settles, 810 West Broadway, chairman of the chapter's fund-raising drive, reported that the figure is nearly double last year's collection total of around $6,000.

Broken down, Settles explained, $6,500 in pledges and $2,000 in cash was collected locally, with $3,201 in pledges being collected in Marshall, which is also in the Mid-Mizzou chapter region.

Inclement weather forced the cancellation of the annual fund-raising carnival, which was scheduled to be held at the Thompson Hills Shopping Center, Settles said. James Swafford, 1011 West Third, won a bicycle from Cecil's Bicycle Shop, 708 South Ohio, for having collected the largest amount of contributions.

Aiding in the local weekend telethon, being held in conjunction with the national Jerry Lewis muscular dystrophy telethon, were the Sedalia Jaycees, Jaycee Wives, Firefighters Local 823 and Firefighter's Local auxiliary.

Over $16 million was collected nationally for muscular dystrophy research and treatment, it was reported.

483 are killed in holiday accidents

By The Associated Press

Accidents on the nation's highways killed 483 persons over the Labor Day holiday period.

Cold, rainy weather over most of the nation may have kept many Americans home and helped reduce the toll.

The National Safety Council estimated before the holiday began that 450 to 550 persons might die in highway accidents, its lowest estimate for a Labor Day in more than 10 years. The council cited the new national speed limit of 55 miles per hour as the reason for the low estimate.

Last year 559 persons were killed during the Labor Day weekend. The record toll for a Labor Day holiday period was 688 in 1968.

driven by her husband, John Fulcher, when the vehicle struck a car driven by Foster C. Green, 415 North Washington. Hollins was a passenger in the Green vehicle.

Fulcher was issued a summons by police for failure to yield the right of way. Both cars were towed from the scene.

Buckner was born in Sedalia, son of Carl and Fanny Buckner.

He was a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and a veteran of the Vietnam War.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buckner, 301 East Jefferson; six brothers, Paul Buckner, stationed with the armed forces in Germany; Carl Buckner, Jr., Milton Buckner, David Buckner, George Buckner and Steven Buckner, all of the home; and five sisters, Francis Buckner, Joyce Buckner, Doris Buckner, Gloria Buckner, and Mary Buckner, all of the home.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Allen and Sons Funeral Home.

Norris resigns as school principal

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — Dr. T. J. Norris, principal of the R-7 elementary school here, has resigned, according to the school board.

Norris, former superintendent of Sedalia District 200, cited poor health as his reason for leaving the post.

Joe Mitchell, eighth grade teacher at R-7 school has been named acting principal.

Sedalia bank official takes new position

Louis R. Hughes Jr.

Louis R. Hughes Jr., executive vice president and trust officer of Sedalia Bank & Trust Co., will resign that position Sept. 26 to take over as president of the First Bank & Trust Co., Sand Springs, Okla.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Jason V. Ott, Kansas City, who owns the controlling interest in the Oklahoma bank. Ott is also chairman of the board of Sedalia Bank & Trust Co.

Sand Springs, located just outside Tulsa, Okla., has a population of 25,000. First Bank lists assets of more than $23 million.

Hughes has been associated with Sedalia Bank & Trust for the last 15 years, and is active in community affairs. He is presently chairman of the Sedalia Airport Board, is a Chamber of Commerce director and holds numerous other civic positions.

Hughes said he will remain president of the Farmers Stock Bank of Blackwater for the foreseeable future, and added that he and his wife, Betty, will continue to maintain a Sedalia residence and eventually return here for retirement.

Storm causes problems in city, county

Saturday's high winds and rain resulted in several instances of electrical outages in the Sedalia area, it was reported Monday.

In the city, firemen responded to nine storm-related calls involving fallen lines and trees caught on fire by the downed lines. A police department spokesman indicated that their office received so many calls on storm-related incidents that they were not listed separately.

City Engineer Robert Cunningham Monday said that City Street Superintendent Vernon Ditton and a small work crew spent the weekend clearing streets.

"They mostly moved the limbs and branches out of the way of traffic," Cunningham said. "We didn't start picking anything up until this morning."

In the country, Ed Walters, assistant director of the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative, reported that "lines were down from Windsor to Napton ... including LaMonte, Georgetown, Beaman and Marshall Junction."

In the immediate Sedalia vicinity, Walters said, outages were reported on West 32nd street beyond the city limits and on East Highway 50.

Three two-man crews spent the weekend correcting the various outages "and had the situation pretty well cleaned up by 2 p.m. Sunday" Walters reported.

Date for public hearing may be decided tonight

The Sedalia City Council will probably decide on a date for a public hearing on the local police situation at its regular meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Municipal Building council chambers, City Counselor Robert Fritz indicated.

The council meeting was postponed one day due to the Labor Day holiday.

The Council, which earlier announced its intent to conduct a public hearing on the police situation, had delayed setting a date pending the completion of a Muncipal Court jury trial involving two local policemen.

At the trial held Friday, a charge of resisting arrest was dismissed against Bob Hopkins, 41, Nevada. The dismissal came as the result of a hung jury.

In other matters, Fritz indicated that several routine street lighting ordinances will be introduced.

Arraignments for three on burglary

Three persons were arraigned in Magistrate Court Tuesday morning on second degree charges of burglary and stealing.

They are charged with entering a building owned by James I. Riley, in the 100 block of South Ohio, Saturday. They are accused of taking one trunk, two smoking stands, one lamp base, one floor lamp and other personal items owned by Riley. The value of the property is undetermined.

The three persons arraigned were: Terry Shepard, 19, 1715 East Seventh; Christopher R. Jackson, 18, 122½ South Ohio; and Miss Vali Zoe Knight, 17, 117 East Third.

A fourth person also charged in the case, Joseph W. Isgriggs, 18, Route 2, is free on $3,500 bond. The other three are being held in the county jail in lieu of $3,500 bond each.

Magistrate Court Judge Hazel Palmer set Sept. 13 as the date for their preliminary hearing.

Chester Leon Myers Jr., 24, Route 6, was arrested Saturday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .22 caliber pistol. He is free on a $3,500 bond and is scheduled to appear in Magistrate Court on September 13.

Missouri accidents claim 17

By The Associated Press

Missouri traffic accidents killed 17 persons over the Labor Day weekend, including four Monday.

A Glasgow, Mo., man, Kenny R. Craig, 24, was killed Monday night when his car ran off Gasconade County Route H and struck a tree, splitting the car in two.

Ann Lynn Edwards, 27, Lawrence, Kan., was killed Monday afternoon when the car in which she was riding collided with a second vehicle on Missouri 127 just west of Sedalia.

Earlier in the day, a Sedalia man was killed when his car and another collided at an intersection on the north side of the city. Dead is Earl Leon Buckner, 21.

Also killed Monday was Timothy A. Lomax, 21, Zalma. His motorcycle ran off a Bollinger County road and struck a tree.

Killed Sunday were:

Athony C. Tye, 18, and Clark Jones, 17, both of Clinton, when their car left old Highway 13 in Henry County and slammed into a bridge railing.

Jay Gillette, 16, rural Greentop, when his car ran off a Schuyler County road near Downing and struck a cattle feeder.

Killed Saturday were:

Glennon G. Geisz, 22, St. Louis; Phillip R. Scott, 21, Desloge and David J. Harrison, 21, Bel Ridge, in a two-car collision on U.S. 63 near LaPlata.

Robert G. McNulty, 29, Gladstone, in a car-truck collision on Kansas City's Paseo Bridge.

Nancy Martin, 15, Festus, when the car in which she was riding ran off a Jefferson County road.

Donald Litzinger, 45, St. Louis, when he stepped from his car on a St. Louis street and was struck by a car that left the scene.

Anthony Paul Baria, 25, Pascagoula, Miss., when his tractor-trailer rig swerved to avoid a car and overturned on Interstate 55 in the bootheel.

Stanley E. Justice, 18, Memphis, Mo., when his car went out of control on Missouri 15 in Scotland County near the Iowa border.

Killed Friday night:

Charles Diedrich, 25, Waukegan, Ill., and Harold Partridge, 47, Mundelein, Ill., when their car crashed into a truck on Interstate 55 near Sikeston.

LLOYD LEWELLEN
Area Farm Management Agent

University of Missouri Extension Centers
Henry - Johnson - Lafayette - Pettis

The Extension office has been receiving an increased number of soil tests from farmers. The minimum time to learn results is two weeks and probably can run as long as three weeks.

If you need a soil test please plan on allowing one month's time to avoid the rush from other farmers.

It is good to have your crop history and fertilizer used in the past to be given at the time the soil sample is delivered to the Extension office. There is no extra cost for four different recommendations as to yield level or different crops.

Field losses

Soybean field losses can be checked by making a light frame one foot square. Place the frame on the ground behind the combine. In numerous places over the field count all beans, including beans still in pods on stubble and divide by four. This is the approximate bushel per acre left in the field, when you divide the average number of beans per square foot by four.

To check field losses of corn if it is combined, count the kernels per square foot behind the combine. You are losing one bushel per acre for each 1-½ kernels of shelled corn per square foot. Each ear of corn found in 133 feet of 40-inch row equals one bushel loss per acre.

Check your plant population in corn by counting the stalks in 13 feet of single 40-inch row in several locations.

New guide sheets

New Guide Sheets received from the University of Missouri are available at the Extension Center as a single copy to each caller. New Guides received is 3610 on Dry Cow Management, Guide Sheet No. 1713 treats sewage plants for rural homes. Guide No. 2352 is the latest composition on swine feeds.

Field day

The annual soils and crop field day on the Bardford Farm at Columbia, will be held Thursday. Starting at 7 a.m., a tour of plots will begin every 15 minutes. Last tour leaves at 10:30. Total tour time is 2½ hours.

Highlights of tour will be weed control by chemicals in corn, soybeans and grain sorghum. Double cropping beans and sorghum after wheat will be discussed. A comparison of urea vs. ammonium nitrate on corn will be seen. Many other topics will be discussed as seen from the tour wagon. Free lunch is available at noon on the farm.

Grass-fattened cattle increase is expected

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says a larger flow of grass-fattened cattle will be moving to market this fall and winter, but two recent reports suggest the supply of nonfed beef already is climbing rapidly.

On Aug. 14, USDA reported the number of cattle on feed in seven key states the first of the month was down 23 per cent from Aug. 1 last year. Further, the report said, marketings from feedlots during July were down 10 per cent from a year earlier.

Those figures speak for themselves, but only to the extent that the grain-fattened cattle supply was less than it was the year before. They did not indicate the total beef supply from all sources, including "nonfed" cattle sold for slaughter.

But last Thursday USDA provided another report which helps answer the remainder of the question. It said beef production in federally inspected slaughter plants in July was up 15 per cent from the same month last year.

That was not a new trend, however, since figures for June had showed a similar relationship: A decline in feedlot output and an over-all increase in beef slaughter.

The slaughter report also helped bear out claims by USDA that total beef production is on the upswing. During the first seven months, it said, beef production was up seven per cent from January-July last year. Also, that did not include veal which showed a three per cent gain from a year earlier.

Pork output, reflecting cutbacks in hog programs this year, was down 11 per cent during the first seven months of this year from the same period in 1973.

USDA is saying that while cattle slaughter is running higher this summer over-all, the price siguation for choice-grade cattle from feedlots—because they are in shorter supply—is the brightest of the lot.

"Choice steer prices may average in the mid-$40s (per 100 pounds), $4 to $7 higher than in the spring," says USDA. "But prices of cows and grass-fed steers and heifers are not fully sharing in this price strength.

"Seasonally larger pork production this fall and increased supplies of lower-grade beef are expected to keep hog prices in the low $30s (per 100 pounds) this fall," officials said.

"Smaller supplies of pork and higher hog prices are in prospect for 1975."

WAHINGTON (AP) — The government has spent slightly more than one-fifth of a $100 million fund to buy beef and pork for school lunch programs next fall.

As of last week, says the Agriculture Department, about 2.9 million pounds of pork were purchased at a cost of $2.6 million. Beef purchases, since the USDA began buying on July 1, totaled 25.3 million pounds at a cost of $18.3 million.

Beatings probe is reported

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State and federal authorities are investigating reports of beatings which have allegedly taken place within the New Madrid County Jail, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported in its editions today.

U.S. Atty. Don Stohr has met with Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth to discuss conditions at the jail located in the Missouri Bootheel, the newspaper said, and Danforth has decided the situation bears a closer investigation.

Stohr would not comment on the investigation, but said, "We naturally look into any charges concerning violations of civil rights."

Several former prisoners in the jail at New Madrid have complained of being beaten.

Henry Dale, president of United Steelworkers Local 7686, said he had lost partial hearing in one ear as a result of a beating he took earlier this year. Dale was arrested on charges of displaying a revolver at a union meeting. The charge is still pending.

Jim New, 31, of Risco, and Terry Mallet, 21, of Malden, have complained that they were beaten by prisoners in May when they were arrested. The two were released the next day.

Sheriff W. L. Ramsey said that inmates "probably" beat Dale.

"But I don't know what you can do about it. No one will admit it. He told me he fell into the bars. This is not unusual," Ramsey said.

The sheriff said he does not condone the beating of persons arrested in New Madrid County. He said sometimes new inmates bring "the trouble on themselves" by starting fights.

The newspaper said Ramsey admitted working prisoners on the 2,500-acre farm he and his brother, Randall, own, but said he pays them for the work.

A pound of honey may hold the essence of two million flower blossoms.

British election expected

LONDON (AP) — Britain's voters face the prospect of a general election next month dominated by the country's worst economic crisis since World War II.

Latest opinion polls indicate the voters do not have enough confidence in any of the major parties to give one of them a majority in Parliament.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who formed a minority Labor government after the indecisive result of the election Feb. 28, is generally expected to try again on Oct. 3 or Oct. 10.

It would be the shortest period between elections since 1886, and the first time two have been held in the same year since 1924.

With the Liberal party and Scottish, Welsh and Irish nationalists holding the balance of power, the government has suffered a number of defeats in trying to get its legislation through the House of Commons. Ministers say they cannot carry out their policies without a clear majority.

Britain's raging inflation, expected to reach 20 per cent by the end of the year, will undoubtedly be the major issue.

Business is stagnating, with industrial production at the same level as the end of 1972. The country has rolled up a foreign trade deficit of around $1 billion every month this year.

Psychologist gives warning on consumers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A consumer psychologist has a suggestion for some of those statistic-minded economists who now are pursuing their presidentially encouraged talks of reviewing the causes and solutions of inflation:

Don't assume that consumers respond like automatons. If you admit they act like human beings rather than numbers you won't have to keep repeating that lame excuse: "People didn't act as anticipated."

Prof. George Katona, who for years headed the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, challenges some of the bedrock assumptions on which economic thinking rests.

To illustrate, many economists believe that in times of inflation people must be encouraged to save and admonished not to spend. But, Katona says in effect, people already are motivated to do so. They need no encouragement.

Not that they always do save when inflation rages. When the fear of shortages or mistrust in the dollar's value are added to the equation, people might act the very opposite. They rush to buy while they can.

Katona, widely regarded as the founder of consumer surveys as they exist today, related some of his views and findings in a paper prepared for an American Psychological Association meeting in New Orleans last Sunday.

Consumers and others do not always react in the predicted manner because of the presence of optimistic or pessimistic attitudes which have their origins in past experience, trust in government, financial condition and the like.

Too often, Katona suggests, economists accept the simple proposition that all there is to inflation is "an insufficient supply of goods in relation to the demand for them at existing prices."

Such an attitude, he said, ignores a mass of relevant material on how people perceive the supply-demand ratio.

Price controls, for example, are viewed by Katona as psychological as much as legal. During World War II and in 1971-73, he said, it was shown that price controls work only if people cooperate with them.

"Governments are powerless to enforce controls if very many businessmen and consumers disregard them..."

At the present time the psychological climate creates some serious obstacles to dealing with inflation, Katona says. He maintains "there prevails a lack of trust in government," which lowers expectations of overcoming prices.

Fighting inflation, he concludes, "calls for creating conditions in which optimistic and confident attitudes arise rather than expectations of rapidly rising prices."

Veterans' support urged

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., called Monday for soldiers from World War I to support Vietnam veterans, but he did not bring up the subject of amnesty.

Eagleton was keynote speaker for the opening session of the 22nd annual Veterans of World War I convention here. He said the nation needs to get behind improved benefits for those who fought in Vietnam.

"The veterans of the Vietnam war have not been treated with the dignity of those veterans of previous wars. They did their duty in Saigon, Pleiku, Dan Nang and Cam Ranh Bay." Eagleton told some 1,500 men and their women's auxiliary members.

"I urge you to broaden your support to include them."

The Missouri Democrat's voice appeared near breaking when he spoke of young paraplegics he had seen in a St. Louis veterans' hospital. "How can you put a dollar sign on that?" he asked.

After the speech, Eagleton told reporters he saw no need to bring up the subject of amnesty.

"I've stated my position on that a thousand times. Conditional case-by-case amnesty for draft evaders and no amnesty at all for deserters," the senator said.

Eagleton discounted any idea that President Ford had softened his position on amnesty in order to lay groundwork for leniency to those involved in Watergate-related crimes—including former President Nixon.

Plywood mills in cost-price squeeze

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Nine plywood mills have closed or will close at least temporarily and another 25 have curtailed production in a cost-price squeeze that appears to be sweeping the industry.

Some 2,500 plywood mill employes have been thrown out of work, most within the past week, and another 1,500 are on less than a full work week, says Bronson Lewis, executive vice president of the American Plywood Association.

Lewis and other plywood officials say the reasons for the industrywide depression are the slump in home building and the high price of logs.

So far, the closures have struck primarily at mills in the Pacific Northwest, but "a few mills have gone down in the South" and more cutbacks there are expected, Lewis said in an interview.

He said that nationwide plywood production is 30 per cent below normal.

One of the biggest closures involves the worker-owned Ft. Vancouver Plywood Co. in Vancouver, Wash. Directors of that mill, one of the largest cooperative plants in the Northwest, voted on Monday to shut down on Friday for an indefinite period, laying off 365 employes.

Lewis and a spokesman for the Simpson Timber Co. said closures have already halted production at Linnton Plywood Association, Portland, Ore.; Oregon-Washington Plywood Co. mills in Garibaldi and Klamath Falls, Ore.; Stevenson Co-Ply, Stevenson, Wash.; Multnomah Plywood, Multnomah, Ore.; and Simpson mills in Shelton and McCleary, Wash., and Albany, Ore.

Lewis, who says his American Plywood Association represents 150 of the nation's 190 plywood mills, says the federal government is primarily to blame for the slowdown in housing construction.

"My God, if they can go to the moon they ought to be able to generate enough housing starts so they can take off on their housing rocket," he said.

Lewis said one way the federal government can give the housing industry a shot in the arm is to lower the interest rate it pays on Treasury notes. He said the government is currently paying American investors higher interest on government notes than can be paid by savings and loan institutions, which generate most housing money.

Lewis said Oregon is the nation's leading plywood-producing state, accounting for 46 per cent of total production. Washington is second with 12 per cent. Southern mills, primarily in Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama and Virginia, account for 30 per cent. The other 12 per cent is scattered mostly among Rocky Mountain and Great Lakes states.

Cell bars fail to hold three

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — A bank burglary suspect sawed his way through a supposedly escape-proof cell bar, then climbed down a makeshift rope and escaped from the St. Louis County Jail Monday night, police said.

Larry E. Stead, 29, of Maryland Heights, Mo., was awaiting transportation by federal authorities, said officials.

Stead and two other men, Thomas E. Wicks, 24, of Ferguson, Mo., and Donald E. Frink, 24, of Florissant, Mo., got out of their fourth-floor cell in the jail's new north module by sawing away an 18-inch section of one of the bars and squeezing through the hole. The cutting tool was apparently a hacksaw, said police.

Jail officials said the bars were designed to give with pressure and were supposed to be resistant to cutting, but the sawed bar was improperly welded.

The three inmates then went down the jail corridor, cut their way through a window screen and lowered a rope made of blankets partially to the ground, officils said.

TV actor is cast in former style

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edward Asner playing a suicidal cop?

The notion will perhaps boggle the minds of TV watchers who know him only as Lou Grant, Mary Tyler Moore's gruff boss with a soft heart.

Asner appears Sept. 10 as a policeman facing the grim prospect of retirement on the season's opener of "Police Story."

Offbeat casting? So it seems. But the actor played a tough cop in the pilot film that started the "Police Story" series.

Before becoming a regular on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" four years ago, he did almost nothing but drama in films and television.

This week Asner was working on yet another series, "Rhoda." That's the spinoff of the Moore Show, with Valerie Harper cutting out of Minneapolis-St. Paul for a career and husband in New York.

Between rehearsals, Asner talked about his dramatic flyer — and his life with Mary.

"I play a man who is faced with a common problem nowadays: he has done the same job for 20-25 years and the day approaches when he's got to quit," said the beefy actor. "He begins to worry about two things: 1. His age; 2. The fact that he isn't doing his job very well — something that is impressed upon him by his young, impertinent partner.

"He sees what has happened to friends of his who have retired from the force. There is Scott Brady, who is running a beat-up bar. And Tom Drake, who has become a wino south of the border. The cop doesn't like facing that kind of a future, and there is an abortive suicide."

Oddly, it was a police role that helped him land his position as newsroom boss on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

He played a bumbling chief of police in an Erle Stanley Gardner film that was aimed at a series for 20th Century-Fox.

Mary's husband and producer, Grant Tinker, was an executive at the studio and remembered Asner when casting for the Moore series.

Unlike some actors who have grown restive in series, Ed Asner is happy with his lot.

"Do I find the series wearying? Amazingly enough, very infrequently," he said. "Maybe I had a lobotomy or something, but the show still generates a great deal of pleasure."

Ed Asner was born 44 years ago in Kansas City, Kan., went to school there and at the University of Chicago. He worked in Chicago theater, with two years out for Army service in France and played on and off Broadway until 1961, when he emigrated to Hollywood. His luck was uneven.

"The year before I played Mary's show I earned $50,000 in TV and films," he recalled. "But that came on the heels of my worst year, when I made only $17,000.

"That was a rough year. We had just moved into a new house, and we couldn't sell the old for five months. Then came the rains of 1968, and the back slope fell off my lot.

"Twice I looked in the Sunday want ads to see if I could find some kind of work — and I got sick.

"A lot of the ads were training programs, which wouldn't welcome an aging actor. What else could I do — go back to my earlier jobs, like metal finishing?"

He persisted, borrowing money from his agent to support his wife, Nancy, and their three children. Finally his luck turned sweet again.

How long will he continue with "The Mary Tyler Moore Show"?

"Unless somebody gets me mad, I see no reason to leave," he remarked. "We're doing some of the best writing in America on our show."

The oldest stock exchange in the world is that in Amsterdam, in the Netherlands, founded in 1602. There were 126 throughout the world as of June 13, 1972.

Economic 'experts': whom do we follow?

WASHINGTON — Our professional economists remind me of our most-publicized evangelists.

Each one vows that his dogma and doctrines offer a certain road to heaven while the other guy's religion will open the gates of hell.

Rowan

And while none of them offers proof of ever having seen heaven, and only your own cynicism leads you to suspect that a few have had direct contact with hell, you just have to pick your preacher on faith.

And so it is with regard to the economists who speak with such fervor about how the Ford administration can curb inflation without plunging the nation into a tragic recession — or depression.

No Baptist ever argued more passionately with a Methodist over whether baptism means total immersion or a mere sprinkling of water than our economists argue these days over the value of a balanced budget, or hard monetary policies, or the efficacy of wage and price controls.

No debate by evangelists ever confused those merely seeking to be saved more than our current crop of economists will confuse Americans. C. Jackson Grayson Jr., head of the price commission during the Nixon administration and now dean of the business school at Southern Methodist University, is vocally opposed to new wage and price controls, or even guidelines. He says controls work only for a short time during "cost-push inflation," but not during what he says we have now, which is a "demand or supply inflation."

Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under President Kennedy, says we have moved away from inflation caused by "a demand-pull process," aggravated by explosions in food and fuel, and that we now are in "a classic wage-price spiral."

The rhetorical gobbledegook is enough to convince you that there is no such thing as an "expert" on the economy.

So overlook, if you can, all the theoretical talk. As Mr. Ford moves toward his economic summit, these are the issues that will really matter to you and me:

1. Will the "old-time religionists" prevail in their view that cutting federal spending and balancing the budget is a cure-all giant first step toward economic salvation? If Ford buys this solution, where will he cut the budget? Will he follow Treasury Secretary William Simon's suggestion that the defense budget remain inviolate while the welfare programs are cut, or will he go for Grayson's suggestion that defense and all other segments share the burden?

2. If the above strategy is adopted, how much unemployment is Ford prepared to accept as the sacrifice some Americans must make in the war on inflation? How much money will he invest in public service jobs and other programs to ensure that the poorest, weakest Americans do not become economic cannon fodder?

3. Could Ford possibly adopt Heller's argument that our budget-cutters and money managers are fighting the wrong inflation, and in doing so are squeezing out of the economy not water but its economic lifeblood? While Grayson and others tell the President that he must risk a severe recession, Heller wants food stamp benefits raised, unemployment compensation increased, income tax exemptions adjusted, tax laws reformed to close loopholes and provide relief for lower income groups.

4. Or will Ford perhaps buy the sort of middle proposal that he adopt guidelines (as proposed by economist Otto Eckstein) allowing prices to go up 3 per cent while wages increase 10 per cent — the difference to make up for the rise in food and fuel costs, and to allow for the fact that profit margins are up?

5. More likely, perhaps, than Number 4, is the possibility that Ford will agree that the Federal Reserve Board has driven interest rates so high that some banks and businesses are in financial jeopardy. He could try to persuade the board to move from the current tight-money stance to a more moderate posture.

Those are areas and issues that are crucial to the economic well-being of all Americans. You won't need six years in the London School of Economics to understand what the Ford administration is doing if you ignore the highfalutin talk and concentrate on the issues of who loses his job, whether prices rise faster than your pay, whether Americans can borrow money to buy a house.

You may go on taking your evangelist on faith. But as for the economists, judge them only by what happens to your pocketbook and bank account.

Veterans' records blotted by SPN's

When it comes to amnesty, a lot of Vietnam war veterans may need it as much as those young men who refused to serve — amnesty from bum rap discharges, that is.

Penthouse magazine has published a list of confidential "Separation Program Numbers" (SPNs) which the Defense Department placed on the discharge papers of hundreds of thousands of Vietnam-era veterans. Previously available to employers but not to veterans themselves, the SPN codes have often been used as grounds for denying veterans jobs outside the service, even though no court martial or other judicial process was followed in assigning them.

The list includes such personal failings as: 41A—"Apathy"; 41E—"Obesity" (or 41C—Apathy and Obesity). Such catchall shortcomings as: 469—"Unsuitability"; 261—"Inaptitude" (or 260—Unsuitability and Inaptitude). Such nebulous items as: 265—"Character disorders"; 271—"Unsanitary habits" or 461—"Inadequate personality."

Also included are a range of numbers indicating homosexuality, suspected homosexuality, "mental deficiency" and a list of psychological terms, such as "Cyclothymic personality."

"More than half a million young men are bearing millstones that weigh heavily on them throughout their lives," writes Michael Pousner in the magazine.

In addition to encountering discrimination from potential employers, veterans with adverse SPN codes may also be illegally denied their veterans' benefits under the G.I. Bill. Each negative entry is also a potential stumbling block to home loans, life and medical insurance, mortgages, bonding and consumer credit.

The disadvantages of the adverse SPN codes are compounded by the fact that these numbers are assigned not as the result of a court martial or perhaps not even an offense but at the discretion of senior officers who may wish to rid themselves of "unsuitable" soldiers, says Pousner.

Because getting an SPN changed is a long, laborious and seldom successful project, he adds, for most veterans an adverse number amounts to a life sentence. (NEA)

Merry-go-round

Terrorists pilfer U.S. arms depots

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — From the guerrilla camps of Lebanon to the Viet Cong-occupied forests of Vietnam, terrorists are fighting with weapons paid for by the U.S. taxpayer and intended for use of American GIs.

In our own travels we have seen ragamuffins cavorting among live Army artillery shells, belts of machine gun ammunition lying unprotected at any Air Force base and untended tanks and jeeps ready to be driven away by intruders.

In Southeast Asia, recently, hundreds of thousands of rounds of U.S. rifle "ammo," bombs, mines and artillery fuses were reported stolen from sea-going munitions barges.

No case, however, better illustrates the holes in America's arms cornucopia than the U.S. depot at Miseau, West Germany, and the nearby Weilerbach storage area near Kaiserslautern.

For years, the depot had been losing munitions at an alarming rate. Thousands of rounds of ammunition, from .22 caliber bullets to mortar shells, cases of dynamite and blasting caps, hand grenades and missiles had simply disappeared.

But no one knew how bad the problem actually was until February 1972, when Army investigators received a tip "that a group of Third-Country Nationals" had stolen "critical munitions" from Miseau. The resulting investigation, outlined in reports stamped "Confidential," which we have obtained, is still continuing.

The three "nationals," the Army found, were Polish-born employes of Uncle Sam. The trio had made off with fifteen 66mm antitank rockets and three 2.75 inch air-to-surface rockets.

They also had their eyes on anti-aircraft Red Eye missiles, the report said.

One of the thieves, moreover, previously had been investigated for "larceny of U.S. government property." No one, apparently, had bothered to check his file when he was hired.

Further investigation revealed that 32 additional U.S. government employes, many of them security guards, had seamy records.

Two were suspected of "working with Polish Intelligence Service." Another was a "suspected Yugoslavian Intelligence active;" yet another had been employed "by Hungarian Intelligence Service."

One subject was found to be a "devout Communist." And one man's record, astoundingly, indicated he was "at one time a general in the Russian army."

A confidential report circulated by the German Federal Criminal Bureau had indicated that "a number of Arab agents were operating in (Germany) with the intent to attack U.S. installations."

Upon checking on government employes working in the area, Army investigators found that 19 Syrians had been hired or fired "in the Kaiserslautern area during the period June-Oct. 72." There was evidence of "very real terrorist activity" tied to the loss of arms and poor security at the depot.

Thousands of Red Eye missiles are stockpiled at Miseau and Weilerbach. The American equivalent of the Russian Strella, they are the perfect terrorist weapon — light, compact, heat-seeking, shoulder-fired.

One August afternoon, discloses a report stamped "For Official Use Only," Army investigators happened by the railhead at Miseau and "found what they believed to be a pallet containing 4 Red Eye missiles ... placed in open storage..."

This sparked a probe of the Red Eye stocks and accounting system at Miseau. The results were frightening.

"The inventory established the presence of 3,776 missiles stored in earth-covered magazines...," states the confidential findings "2,305 can be accounted for by receipt documentation. No records could be found to indicate the remaining 1,471 missiles were ever received..."

In short, the depot had what auditors call an "overage" of Red Eyes. To the military, overages represent an even greater danger than shortages because there is no way of determining what is actually missing.

The army investigators also surveyed the physical security at Miseau and Weilerbach. Their findings:

✓ The perimeter's chain link fence has oxidized to the point that it has lost its tensile strength and can be broken or crushed with the hand .... The top and bottom weaves have rusted and broken loose ..., holes are beginning to appear..."

✓ "The above-ground storage facilities have fallen into a poor state of maintenance and repair. The pre-fab concrete and fiber siding and roofs have become brittle and can be damaged or broken with little effort. Numerous hinges and door hasps are rusted and in a weakened condition...; master keys must be considered compromised.

✓ "It was also observed that 'select' ... civilians are authorized entry into the Miseau Storage Areas on the basis of German-American relations. The persons are purported to be berry-pickers and naturalists. These personnel were not escorted during their stays in the ammunition storage areas."

✓ A survey of the guard force disclosed that during the six-month period prior to the Army investigation, "a total of 254 infractions were recorded..." These involved "AWOL, drunkeness, sleeping on duty, performing guard duties without a weapon and false reporting by guard personnel."

✓ "Vast quantities of unguarded munitions were located in open storage at both ... railheads. These items included, but were not limited to, 105mm and 155mm artillery rounds, rockets, ... small arms ammunition, mines, fuzes and missiles."

✓ Over a one-month period, "an estimated 200 TOW missiles, a sensitive munitions list item, were observed in open storage on the south side of (one) railhead. At no time ... in the course of approximately 3 weeks were these missiles under protection of a guard."

Dinner with the Ford's

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — I was sitting on the porch of our rented house on Martha's Vineyard reading "Six Crises" for the seventh time when the call from Washington came. It was my secretary Ellie who said in a breathless voice, "The White House just telephoned. President and Mrs. Ford want you to come to a state dinner Friday night."

"Oh, my God," I said.

Buchwald

"What is it?" my wife said when she saw my face. "What's wrong?"

"President Ford wants us to come to dinner Friday night."

"Hurry up and get off the phone," she said. "I have to call Oscar de la Renta and order a new evening gown."

"Wait a minute, social climber," I said. "Not so fast. We have to think this one out. I told Ellie I would call her back."

"What is there to think out?" my wife said. "We've been invited by the President of the United States for dinner. We have to go."

"It's not that simple. Don't you see what they're trying to do? It's the old 'invite the columnist to the White House trick.' They're out to get me."

"How can you say that?" she demanded.

"I've NEVER been invited to the White House — not by John F. Kennedy, not by Lyndon Baines Johnson, not EVEN by Richard Nixon. The title of my last book was 'I Never Danced at the White House.' I've made my living standing on the outside, hanging on the bars of the iron fence looking in. Now the Fords are trying to destroy me by asking us to break bread with them."

"You're being paranoid," my wife said. "Maybe they don't know many people in Washington, and they've heard what a great dancer you are."

"I wish that was all there was to it. But I believe someone in the Ford Administration has it in for me. Can't you see what this will do for me? If we go to that dinner, it will be reported in the press. Everyone will say I've gone in the bag for the President. My credibility as a tough, hard-driving, investigative reporter will be destroyed. People will pick up the column and say, 'I wonder what the freeloader has to say about Mr. Ford today.' There is no way anyone can be objective after he's danced with the President's wife."

"Well, you can't just refuse. You'd be insulting the office of the Presidency," my wife said as she started putting her hair in curlers.

"We could go sailing. If we were out in a sailboat and they couldn't find us, we wouldn't be insulting anybody."

"But you can't sail," she objected.

"All you need is a good sea, strong canvas and a wind at your back. I read that somewhere."

"I'm not going to risk drowning just because you don't want to go to dinner at the White House."

"What option do we have?" I said. "The Fords haven't given us any choice. Do you realize a piece of roast beef in the East Room could destroy our way of life as we know it? Threats I can take, IRS audits I can deal with — I don't even mind having my telephone tapped. But there is no way I can fight an invitation to a state dinner."

"Then I can't call Oscar de la Renta?" she said crestfallen.

"Not unless he makes yellow slickers for sailboats," I said.

I called back Ellie. "Ellie, tell the White House that you can't reach us — that we're somewhere between Nantucket and Cape Hatteras on a boat. And one more thing — do you have a dictionary there? Look up starboard, and tell me if it's the right side or the left side of a boat."

Ku Klux Klan is still recruiting new members

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

CAMPTI, La. (AP) — "Welcome to Klan Country," the big sign said. And there beside U.S. 71, on a rented meadow three miles north of Campti, the Ku Klux Klan was hustling for new recruits.

Blacks and Jews and intellectuals, liberals, skeptics and their ilk need not apply.

The sun had slipped behind the green hills of central Louisiana but the day was still bright. Most cars whining along U.S. 71 zipped right on by the KKK sign and the ominous hooded figure beside it.

"People don't come until after dark," shrugged state grand dragon John W. King, a Winnfield lawyer. "They don't care to be seen at a Klan rally."

He said that's because the Klan is famed for clandestine terrorism, murder, whippings and fire to impose its version of law and order—and word hasn't gotten around that times have changed.

The bloody image often repels potential members whose politics may lie just south of Attila the Hun's but who balk at violence — it appeals to what King calls the "nitwits, wild men and radicals."

"But the haters pass right on through," King added. "They don't stay long."

This peaceful dragon is state commander for the United Klans of America, Inc. (UKA), richest and most visible of the 15 separate and jealous Klan groups known to the FBI.

The encampment seemed remarkably well protected. It was patrolled by 10 armed men wearing gray military uniforms, boots, black helmets.

Each man's belt bore a holstered pistol. A two-foot billy club dangled beside it. Two troopers carried M-1 carbines with banana clips curved beneath them.

King, wearing coveralls, was fiery-faced and sweating hard from the unaccustomed labor of helping deck the grassy field with props for his "Americanism Rally."

They included:

—A 30-foot-tall wooden cross, wrapped in burlap and soaked with diesel fuel, to be lighted later; plus a four-foot cross made of lead pipe, perforated like the burners of a gas stove. Fueled by a tank of butane, the small cross flamed near the fence gate, beside the floodlit welcome sign.

—An 18-wheel flatbed truck as a platform for musicians and speakers. Microphones stood on it, flanked by American and confederate flags. Strings of electric light bulbs dangled from temporary poles.

—An old Army tent to shelter a concession stand, where Klan women sold soft drinks, sandwiches and slivers of cake; two smaller tents for rank and file workers.

—Two portable outhouses.

—Two large and luxurious motor homes, one for King, the other for Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., the UKA's imperial wizard.

Keeping tabs on the UKA and other Klans used to involve millions of FBI dollars and hundreds of agents and informers. But except for a militant klavern here and there, FBI spokesmen say things have been routine since 1971.

★ ★ ★

The FBI says membership in the Klans has declined considerably since 1971 but numbers of Klan organizations continue to be involved in atrocities denying others their constitutional rights. The FBI estimates that United Klans of America, the largest group, has a membership of 1,700. In 1972, they estimated it at 3,200.

Actually, Klans were never very secret to the FBI or interesting to police.

By dark nearly 200 cars and pickups were parked on the field but over half left when a rainstorm struck.

About 100 spectators stuck through two hours of speeches resembling fundamentalist preaching, condemning racial integration, new math, communism — Jews. Anti-semitism got more space than blacks.

"The Jews are the anti-Christ!" cried Shelton. "People say Christ was a Jew. He was not. Show me anywhere in the old King James Bible where it says Jesus Christ Was a Jew!"

Our country was founded by men with names like Hamilton, Adams and Washington, said Shelton, and he mourned today's "Kissingers, Schlesingers and Goldsteins."

At the end, 23 hooded klansmen in white satin robes waved torches in a ritual, then lit the big cross. It was not particularly spectacular; rain had diluted the diesel fuel.

Not many heeded King's pleas to stick around and sign on.

"If you're interested in talking to us about the Klan, we're here to do it and we're not in any hurry to leave," he called.

But it was around midnight. The exodus continued.

"We are planning to change our style," King told a newsman while unplugging his public address system. "We're going to hold meetings in motel banquet halls, places like that, instead of out in fields."

Cynical FBI agents, who suspect that money is the root of most Klans, say leaders have nothing against the affluent, either, but that any member will do.

The UKA plainly has enough money flowing in to pay Shelton $15,000 a year and provide him with a motor home nearly as big as a Greyhound bus to travel from klavern to klavern, coast to coast.

He claims klaverns in almost every state.

★ ★ ★

Proof that the UKA had yankee klaverns came when five men identified by the FBI as "UKA affiliates" were arrested on a charge of bombing 10 parked school buses during integration troubles at Pontiac, Mich., in 1971.

Shelton says the UKA is financed by a monthly assessment of 50 cents a member, paid to the national UKA from whatever dues are imposed by the local.

No other Klan of the 15 most visible of the 14 separate and jealous Klan groups known to the FBI. These days, the vaunted Klan secrecy seems to hide weakness, not strength.

seems prosperous, though James R. Venable of Stone Mountain, Ga., claims over 100,000 members for his National Knights. Shelton is among those who doesn't believe it.

"They're all paper tigers," he scoffed. "Anybody can set up a Klan. But I doubt if all the other Klans could muster in total membership what we have in just two Louisiana parishes."

Recruiting for Klan

Fading, fading...

Wood nails down 20th at expense of Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It was a struggle, but paunchy knuckleballing Wilbur Wood is a 20-game winner for the Chicago White Sox for the fourth consecutive year.

Kansas City greeted the lefthander with four hits and three runs in the first inning Monday night and led 4-1 before the White Sox fought back to tie the count, Ron Santo's pinch double capping the three-run rally in the eighth.

Jorge Orta's two-run double in the tenth finally got Wood home with a 6-4 victory.

"When I won 20 for the first time four years ago I did it about this time of the year here—but it was in the old ball park (Municipal Stadium)."

Wood first entered the 20-game circle in 1971 posting a 22-13 mark. He finished 1972 with a 24-17 record and 1973 at 24-20.

"I just want to thank (manager) Chuck Tanner for taking me out of the bullpen four years ago," said the 32-year-old Wood.

Kansas City got to him for 13 hits including three doubles, but except for the first and seventh innings when the Royals got all of their runs, Wood managed to get around any difficulties.

Orta had three hits in six trips to beef his average to .321.

Dick Allen also had three hits and Bucky Dent and Brian Downing had two apiece in the White Sox 17 hit assault on starter Al Fitzmorris, and relievers Joe Hoerner and Doug Bird. Bird, 6-4, absorbed the loss.

Tanner was pleased with the night's results.

"Four 20-win seasons in a row. Not many guys can say they've done that. You can put 'em on your hand—the Gibsons, the Koufaxs . . ."

Tanner acknowledged that probably no one could catch Oakland in the American League West. The Royals and Texas are now 8½ games back with Minnesota 11 off the pace and Chicago 12 games back.

"If we can't finish first then we want to finish second. I told the players that before the last home stand," said Tanner.

Raiders edge 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pair of passing bombs — one which connected and one which didn't — for all practical purposes decided Monday night's National Football League pre-season game between the Oakland Raiders and the San Francisco 49ers.

Oakland emerged with a 20-19 victory, thanks to a 74-yard scoring strike from Ken Stabler to Cliff Branch that turned things around. An unusual drop of a Steve Spurrier bomb by Gene Washington late in the game proved costly to the 49ers.

As a result, the Raiders take a 4-1 pre-season record into Saturday's Berkeley clash with the New York Jets. The 0-5 49ers host the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

For a while, upset seemed a possibility. A stout San Francisco defense smothered Stabler and a pair of Tom Wittum field goals gave the 49ers a 6-0 lead late in the second period.

Stabler then uncorked his bomb to Branch, who grabbed the ball on the San Francisco 36 and outraced cornerback Bruce Taylor to the end zone. George Blanda's conversion made it 7-6 at the half.

Stabler completed 13 of 21 passes for 181 yards.

Jim Duzan sank a hole-in-one over the holiday weekend at Westmoreland Country Club on the par-three, 175-yard fourth hole.

Seven records fall

'Spirit' carries U.S. swimmers

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — Team spirit had a lot to do with the United States' 198-145 victory over East Germany in a dual meet for world supremacy in swimming, says John Naber, who ended a seven-year world reign of men backstrokers by East Germany's Roland Mathes.

"There is such a thing as psychology in swimming," the 18-year-old University of Southern California student said after the two-day meet ended Sunday.

Seven world records fell and two were tied in the meet at Concord Community Park pool.

U.S. men won all 15 of their events with 1-2 finishes in seven of the 12 individual races and a 119-61 point margin.

East Germany won 10 of 14 women's events and held an 84-79 edge, but U.S. girls took second in 10 of the 12 individual races.

The diving, scored separately, went to the United States, 24-22.

Naber, from Menlo Park, Calif., beat the 23-year-old Mathes in the 100 and 200 meter backstroke and the leadoff leg of the meet's final race, the 400-meter medley relay.

John Hencken of Santa Clara, Calif., a Stanford student, lowered his own world records in the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke to 1:03.88 and 2:18.21.

Tim Shaw, 16, of Long Beach, Calif. was the meet's only triple winner, capturing the 200, 400 and 1,500 freestyle.

Steve Furniss of Santa Ana, Calif., won the 400 and 200 individual medley, tying a world mark of 2:06.32 in the 200.

Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif. tied her own week-old world mark of 2:02.94 in the 200 freestyle and anchored a 400 freestyle relay team that set a world mark of 3:51.99.

The other U.S. world record performance was by Andy Coan, Jim Montgomery, Mike Bottom, and Tom Hickcox in the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 3:25.17.

East German women swimmers broke three world records, all Sunday night: Ulrike Richter, 100 backstroke, 1:02.98; Renate Vogel, 100 breaststroke 1:12.28, and Rosemark Kother, 100 butterfly, 1:01.88.

Five U.S. men remain in Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Roscoe Tanner and Arthur Ashe, two of only five American men left in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, figure that, for them, it is this year or never.

"I have a lot confidence on grass," said Tanner after he upset Ilie Nastase Monday, "I feel I play pretty well on it. Next year, it's going to go to clay and it's going to be awfully hard.

"Arthur feels the same way: if we're going to do anything, we'll have to do it this year."

Ashe, the No. 8 seed who won the U.S. crown in 1968, will try to "do something" today against Guillermo Vilas, the No. 9 seed from Argentina who is nine years his junior.

Tanner, who beat Ashe in the third round of Wimbledon, did his thing Monday, upsetting seventh-seeded Nastase, the 1972 U.S. Open winner, 4-6, 6-7, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4.

Another one of the Americans, Marty Riessen, is scheduled to meet Indian Vijay Amritraj in the second feature of the day.

Nastase's good friend, Jimmy Connors, and Stan Smith, who won here in 1971, are the other United States hopes for the title and the $23,500 first prize.

Connors celebrated his 22nd birthday and protected his top seeding with a 6-1, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4 victory over John Alexander of Australia. Smith, seeded third, advanced to the fourth round with a 6-3, 7-5, 6-4 triumph over Brian Teacher, a fellow Californian.

Second-seeded Billie Jean King led a march of four American women into the quarter-finals, bringing the U.S. total to five. Favored Chris Evert advanced earlier along with three Australians.

Ms. King, like her compatriots, relied on experience in overcoming some youthful but promising players.

Nicklaus chalks up 53rd victory

ATLANTA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, disappointed over not winning any of golf's four major tournaments, says his triumph in the $250,000 Tournament Players Championship "has salvaged the year for me."

Nicklaus put on one of his patented charges over the final round which began Sunday and concluded Monday morning due to torrential rainstorms.

The 34-year-old "Golden Bear" took home the $50,000 first prize when he strung together six birdies en route to a 67 and a course-tying 72-hole total of 272.

J.C. Snead, the third-round leader, equaled par 72 on the final round for a 274 total, two strokes behind Nicklaus over the 6,883-yard Atlanta Country Club course.

It was Nicklaus' first triumph since winning the Hawaiian Open in February and gives him 53 tour victories, in addition to $2,217,476 in earnings for his career. It also gave him $208,307 in earnings for the season, second to Johnny Miller, who has $256,383.

Brown, George in main event

Bob Brown will defend his Central States Wrestling title in tonight's main event against Mike George in the weekly professional wrestling show at Convention Hall in Liberty Park.

Also featured on the four-event card is a tag team match between the Interns and The Viking and "Bad News" Beech.

Karl Krupp and Ronnie Etchison square off in the special event, while The Viking faces Intern No. 1 in the opening match at 8:30 p.m.

"WE'RE ON THE ENERGY TEAM!"

"Our whole company is saving energy. The Government has asked corporations to reduce energy consumption 15%, and is providing guidance and incentive awards. We're saving on heating and air conditioning with better insulation and more efficient systems. And that giant sign on the roof that used to burn all-night—we turn it off at 10:30 now."

"I'm helping increase the capacity of an oil refinery so we can help meet the increased demands for gasoline and other usable forms of energy."

There's a big gap between domestic refining capacity and domestic energy needs, a gap that must be closed. To do it, we have to expand existing refineries or build new ones, so that our refining capacity can handle the growing demand for energy.

It will take everyone's understanding and cooperation to get this expansion and new construction going.

Noses out favorite

Easy Date takes Futurity at wire

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) — Easy Date, a filly from the farms of Walter Merrick of Sayre, Okla., captured the $1.03 million Labor Day All-American Futurity and nosed out favorite Tiny's Gay in his bid for all three jewels of the quarter horse triple crown.

Easy Date, who had been second best in the qualifying trials at 21.67 seconds, kicked in a photo-finish victory at 21.60 seconds to hand the glamour horse, Tiny's Gay, an unlucky 13.

Tiny's Gay, owned by John Colville, Paramount, Calif., had never been beaten in his 12 previous outings. He already wore two jewels of the triple crown—the $358,705 Kansas Futurity and the $301,560 Rainbowl Futurity—and he had a chance at being the richest quarter horse in the business.

A first-place victory in what is billed as the world's richest horse race would have been his 13th, boosting his career earnings to $636,720.

His second-place performance netted $130,000 and pushed his winnings to $444,720.

Colville, 34, a plastics manufacturing executive, who said his horse was "the best," watched quietly Monday as Easy Date's number was posted ahead of Tiny's Gay, who was purchased for $3,000 at last year's Haymaker Sale in Oklahoma City.

Merrick has had two All-American Futurity winners. Easy Date and her father, Easy Jet, who captured the crown for 2 year olds in 1969.

Merrick, who has been in the horse business 35 years, said he'll probably reinvest his Easy Date money in his horses.

"I imagine my banker was smiling when he saw that on TV," Merrick said.

The race was televised live coast-to-coast to an estimated audience of 20 million by the All-American Network, based in Topeka, Kan.

Easy Date's rider, Don Knight, 27, of Tulsa, Okla., said, "She's the best. She ran the race on her own. She just ran her race, that's all."

Easy Date was a late entry in the All-American qualifying trials, and $15,000 in supplemental fees was paid to get her in.

Another late entry, David Capri, came in third to win $64,000 for his owner, Frank J. Hieden, Houston.

They were among 209 hopefuls running in the 21 trial heats Aug. 23 vying for one of 10 berths in the Labor Day classic.

Easy Date became only the fifth filly to win the All-American since the futurity began in 1959. Others were Galobar in 1959, Goetta in 1963, Decketta in 1964 and Laico Bird in 1967.

All other winners have been colts.

Both fillys and colts carried 119 pounds of weight in the Labor Day race.

Easy Date's 21.60-second All-American clocking was the same time posted by Easy Six, a colt, as the best in the qualifying trials. Easy Six, another progeny of Easy Jet, came in fourth Monday, however.

He earned $45,000 for his owner, S.B. Burnett Estate, Fort Worth, Tex.

Other All-American racers, their owners and their winnings were:

Fifth, Heza Charger, owned by Ronald G. Houseman and Alonzo F. Stanley Jr., Madill, Okla., $36,000; sixth, Maskeo Lad, Billy G. Underwood, Dallas, $34,000; seventh, I Can Go, Ethel W. and Charles Bird, Midland, Tex., $32,000; eighth, Chautos, Eldon and Lois Black and Roy A. Forkner, Quemado, Tex., $31,000; ninth, Sheswright, W. L. Edwards, Ruidoso, $29,000; 10th, Little Blue Sheep, L.R. French Jr., Odessa, Tex., $27,000.

Co-winners

Jane Blalock (left) and Sue Roberts hold the trophy they will share as co-winners of the Ladies Professional Golf Association $35,000 Southgage Open, held over the weekend in Kansas City. Play was cancelled after 36 holes because of heavy rains. Each received a check for $4,375 for their 142 tie score. (AP Wirephoto)

Blalock, Roberts share top honors at Southgate

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The final round of the Southgate Open was washed out Monday, making co-champions of Sue Roberts and Jan Blalock.

The two were tied for the lead after 36 holes with two-under-par totals of 142. Splitting first-and second-place money, Miss Blalock and Miss Roberts collected $4,375 each.

Tied for third in the LPGA event at the Leawood South County Club were Shelley Hamlin and Mary Mills, who collected $2,600 apiece for their par 144s.

Kathy Whitworth, who won the Southgate title in 1972 and again last year when rain shortened the tournament to 36 holes, was another shot back at one-over par. She won $1,875.

Cathy Duggan, Donna Caponi Young and Jan Stephenson were next, tied with 146s.

Rain and 50 mile per hour winds raked the course Saturday, forcing a halt as most of the players were making the turn.

The second round was completed Sunday under threatening skies and the final round shoved back to Monday.

Miss Whitworth fired a 69 Friday to lead after 18 holes, but fell back on the second day. Miss Blalock took the lead in Saturday's shortened round with a three-under-par.

Hood new skipper

Courageous given nod over Intrepid

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Courageous will defend the America's Cup against Australian challenger Southern Cross, and if the alumunimum yacht defends it successfully, Intrepid, the other U.S. contender, will have a lot to do with it — at least in the opinion of Ted Hood.

Hood is in a position to know, having replaced Bob Bavier as Courageous' skipper Monday when it sailed to victory over the wooden Intrepid to earn the right to represent the United States in defense of the Cup.

Courageous broke a 4-4 deadlock in the trials to pick a defender by a comfortable margin, one minute, 47 seconds over the 24.3-mile course on Rhode Island Sound.

The New York Yacht Club promptly selected Courageous to defend the Cup, which America has never lost since competition began in 1851. Southern Cross eliminated the French yacht France 4-0 to earn the right to challenge.

The best-of-seven America's Cup competition begins Sept. 10.

Hood said the strong showing by Intrepid in the trials will help his boat against Southern Cross.

"If the series with Australia is very close, Intrepid will have made it possible for us to win," said Hood.

The Broadwell brothers, Steve and Scott, are members of Michigan State's golf team.

Bill Utz regains IMCA sprint car points lead

LINCOLN, Neb. — Winning two of the three International Motor Contest Association sprint car features over the Labor Day Weekend at the Nebraska State Fair here, Bill Utz, Sedalia, has moved back in front of Larry Kirkpatrick, Wood River, Ill., for the season's point championship.

Utz, who relinquished the point's lead to Kirkpartick a little over a week ago at the Iowa State Fair, has approximately a 180-point lead heading toward the Mid-America State Fair racing program at Topeka, Kan., this weekend.

Utz won Saturday's 30-lap feature in the Dean Hathman-Pat O'Connor Chevy-powered sprinter by less than three car lengths over runner-up Earl Wagner, Pleasantville, Iowa.

Sunday, the drivers switched places in the feature finish.

Monday, Utz started ninth and ran away with the main event, despite the fact his sprinter had two blown head gaskets and failing brakes.

Brock 'eases' toward base stealing records

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lou Brock says he's in a glide pattern and should breeze past two of the major leagues' most formidable records with ease.

"I'm only doing now what I've spent years and years putting together," the 35-year-old St. Louis Cardinals base-stealing star said Monday.

"People ask me whether there's any pressure involved in setting the records," he mused. "Frankly, it's gotten to the point where I think they'd be more surprised now if I didn't."

By stealing four bases in as many attempts Sunday, Brock boosted his season's total to 98 thefts in 126 games and his career mark to 733.

With the Montreal Expos and New York Mets the Cards' guests this week, his immediate target is the National League's record of 738.

Once that's reached he'll be within grasp of a standard many once considered unattainable, that of 104 for one season set by the Los Angeles Dodgers' Maury Wills in 1962.

"Yes, it's come a little easier than I ever thought it would," Brock reflected Monday as the Cards marked time during a rainout with the Expos.

"No, I don't have any idea how many I'll end up stealing. It depends, of course, on circumstances of the game and the score. All I know is I'll top 104, or at least I should."

While bearing down on the Wills mark and the 45-year-old NL career mark set by the Pittsburgh Pirates' Max Carey in 1929, Brock swiped 29 bases during the month of August.

His pace kept the Cardinals from further collapse during a 4-8 trip just concluded and represents the big hope of Manager Red Schoendienst for his club's stretch drive in the NL East.

"I'm amazed, particularly by his consistency, and he's in good enough shape to keep going," Schoendienst said. "He likes challenges, he likes competition."

Brock, reflecting again on his position, noted, "If there's any pressure at all it's getting on base. And there are many ways to do that.

"The magnitude of what's happening I really don't comprehend right now," he added. "Perhaps I really don't know what the record represents.

Wet weather forces Big 8 teams inside

By The Associated Press

Rainy weather continued to hamper workouts in many Big Eight football camps Monday.

Missouri worked inside twice, with sophomore quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz rejoining the club on a limited basis. He suffered an ankle injury Aug. 24. Another quarterback, Monte Ray Montgomery, also practiced Monday after missing several days because of muscle spasms in his back.

Kansas was also driven inside because of the weather, working out briefly and then watching films of last Saturday's scrimmage. Coach Don Fambrough said he saw some good things and the club was making good progress but had "a ways to go before we're ready for that first game."

Nebraska was jolted with the news that junior split end Dave Shamblin will be out the entire season due to torn knee ligaments. Shamblin, who had been running with the top offensive unit, underwent surgery Monday morning. Doctors expected to repair loose cartilage that would sideline Shamblin only four to six weeks. But they found ligament damage that will rule him out for the season.

Colorado Coach Bill Mallory put his club through its final two-a-day workouts with a pair of light drills in the rain. Mallory said he was pleased with the progress of the defensive unit, and announced that offensive left guard Steve Stripling had moved to the first team.

Kansas State Coach Vince Gibson seemed pleased Monday after looking at films of the Wildcats' scrimmage last Saturday. He said he thought the offensive line moved real well in the second half and singled out the play of reserve lineman Alton Carson. Cornerback Henry Lige suffered a strained ligament in the Saturday workout and defensive back Paul Smith remained out of the lineup recuperating from an earlier injury.

Football, volleyball meetings set

A meeting of men's six-man touch football teams is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday. The chief topics at the meeting will be rules, rosters and schedules. Team representatives and persons who have signed up for the fall league should attend the meeting at Convention Hall in Liberty Park.

Registration is still open, however, the deadline will be Wednesday at the meeting.

A women's volleyball meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday.

This year's league will be divided into two sections. One segment will play on Mondays, the other on Thursdays. All games will be played in Convention Hall.

Rosters, rules, officials, practice, tournaments and schedules will be covered at the meeting.

Only team captains or their representatives and individuals who are not on a team need attend the meeting.

The deadline for teams wishing to enter the league is 5 p.m. Sept. 23.

Southern checker flies for Cale

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Cale Yarborough has won the famed Southern 500 mile race for the third time in his career, and he admits it was one of the scariest rides of his life.

"I don't think any sensible man can drive this race track, under conditions that prevailed in this race, without feeling a little fear along the way. I did and every man out there did," he said.

Yarborough, who lives in a Southern-style mansion only 13 miles from weatherbeaten old Darlington Raceway, drove his Chevrolet through a maze of wrecks Monday to become only the third man in history win the storied stock car event three times.

Not only that, he became only the second man to win it back to back.

He was one of five pre-race favorites among the 40 starters in the silver anniversary event, and he was the only one of them to go the distance.

Wrecks that destroyed half a million dollars worth of machinery felled such worthies as $1.75 career winner Richard Petty. David Pearson, Bobby Allison and Buddy Baker. All except Pearson are former winners.

Yarborough completed the 367 laps around the narrow, bumpy mile and three-eighths oval more than a lap ahead of second place finisher Darrell Waltrip, a second year man who also drives a Chevrolet.

Ten yellow caution flags, consuming 104 laps, slowed the pace to a crawl while track workmen cleaned up the debris. Thus, Yarborough took 4 hours and 30 minutes to go the distance, for an average speed of only 111.075 miles per hour. He won last year with a record speed of 134.033 mph.

He pocketed $26,800 for his ninth triumph of the season and now stands at $204,493. Petty, still the money leader, finished 35th and added only $1,475 to his previous total of $209,550.

Yarborough led the race three times for a total of 159 laps. There were 25 official lead changes between 13 drivers.

Yarborough's victory carried him past Petty in a red hot battle for the Winston Cup Grand National championship. Yarborough is seeking his first title. Petty already has won it four times.

Third place went to David Sisco in a Chevrolet, fourth to Dave Marcis in a Dodge and fifth to James Hylton in a Chevrolet. All were many laps behind the leader.

Here is a rubber bridge hand played at the old Knickerbocker Whist Club long after it had given up whist for contract.

The late P. Hal Sims, one of the all-time greats, cashed his high diamonds and led a trump. Charles Lochridge, another all-time great who sat South, won the trick, spread his hand and asked, "I make it, don't I?"

Hal folded his cards and said, "Yes, you do." But East wanted to know why Charley didn't have to lose a club trick.

Charley's claim was perfectly legal since he did not intend to take any finesses. His plan was to cash his ace of hearts, lead a trump to dummy, ruff a heart, lead another trump to dummy, ruff a second heart and play out his last trump.

At that point Hal would be down to four cards — the king of hearts, and three clubs. Dummy in back of him would be holding the jack of hearts and three clubs. Hal would have to discard first and any discard would give Charley the rest of the tricks.

Why did Charley bother to ask? Because if East held the queen of clubs or four hearts to the king or queen the squeeze would not develop.

State legislators to begin veto session

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Writer

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's lawmakers return to the Capitol Wednesday to consider 26 vetoes by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The Senate from where most of the vetoed bills originated, will convene at 10 a.m. The House, following 2 p.m. ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of a portrait of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, will convene at 4 p.m.

The governor, who said "no" to 18 proposed laws and six portions of appropriations bills, is expected to receive continued pressure, while the legislators are in the capital, to call a special session to consider raising the 8 per cent ceiling on the interest for long-term loans.

He has asked for a second study of the matter and has not ruled out a special session later this year.

If the governor calls a special session, he is expected to call it in November, after the Nov. 5 general election.

More than half the governor's vetoes involved spending bills, either appropriations or expensive new programs.

He vetoed pay raises for most of the state's judges, for the Missouri Boat Commission, which also would have been put under the state's merit system, and for the Workmen's Compensation division.

He also vetoed nine pay raise bills for St. Louis city elective officials — license collector, recorder of deeds, circuit attorney, collector of revenue, employes of the collector of revenue, prosecuting attorney, circuit clerk for criminal cases, city treasurer and city jury commissioner.

The governor noted the city of St. Louis is in a tight financial situation and that either the pay is lower or the offices are smaller in comparable offices in Jackson and St. Louis counties.

The vetoed bill giving state aid to junior colleges was expected to cost $4 million this year and $8 million next year. The vetoed measure giving a $3 increase to Aid to Dependent Children would make the payments $41 a month for a mother, $51 a month for the first child and $31 a month for each additional child. The ADC payments were increased the year before.

Bond has repeatedly warned that a tax increase would be likely if his vetoes are not upheld, but an increasing number of lawmakers, led by the Senate president pro tem and the House speaker, have expressed strong support for overriding the junior college and ADC vetoes.

Both bills passed easily in the 1974 regular session.

However, a two-thirds vote — 23 in the Senate and 109 in the House — is needed.

The ADC bill received 19 votes in the Senate when it passed and the key there will be how many senators show up for the veto session.

There are five senators who are either retiring or who were defeated in the primary election — Edward Linehan, D-St. Louis; Edward Stone, R-Chesterfield; John Joynt, D-St. Louis; Earl Blackwell, D-Hillsboro; and Don Owens, R-Gerald.

The Senate has a 21-13 margin for Democrats. In the House, Democrats picked up one in a special election to fill out a term in the 138th District, so they have a 99-64 advantage.

A governor's veto in Missouri has not been overridden since 1838, according to available records, but until 1972, there never was an opportunity for it.

Before the state went to annual sessions, the Legislature could not consider bills after the session ended unless the governor called a special session.

When the Legislature went to annual sessions, a maximum 10-day session in September was established for bills vetoed at the end of the two-year general assembly. For bills vetoed in the first year of the two-year assembly, provision was made for considering the vetoed bills at the start of the second session.

The first special veto session was held in 1972 in conjunction with a special appropriations session.

While given less of a chance than the junior college and ADC bills attempts to override Bond's $3.5 million in cuts from higher education and construction appropriations are expected.

Bond sliced about $1 million from the legislative, which was almost twice that of the previous year. But House and Senate leaders have said they expect to let those vetoes stand.

Here are other appropriations vetoes:

— $478,362 for planning and site acquisition money for a multi-handicapped and physical therapy complex at the state school for the blind.

— $21,500, leaving $100,000, for renovations of house and senate offices in the Capitol.

— $100,000, leaving $50,000, for repairs at the Kohler Building at the St. Louis State Hospital.

— $296,000, leaving $2.2 million, for a general services building at University of Missouri-St. Louis.

— $8,200 to the state auditor for relocation costs. The money already has been paid out of previous appropriations.

— $1.5 million, leaving $500,000, for storm sewers in St. Louis County. A $2 million appropriation previously for the project has not been spent, Bond said.

— $49,201, leaving $1,537,000 for the state Division of Finance and Banking Board.

— $25,000 in matching funds for the Department of Corrections and a requirement that the federal funds can't be spent without legislative approval, and a similar amount and similar wording for the Division of Youth Services and Board of Probation and Parole.

— $15,000 for the Board of Probation and Parole to contract with the Reality House in Columbia.

—$431,582 from the University of Missouri's system's operating budget, leaving $112.2 million in state funds.

—$63,144, leaving $1,436,856 for the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry.

—$839,328, leaving $4,506,599 for Lincoln University.

—$213,000, leaving $2,127,873, for Missouri Southern State College.

—$100,000, leaving $2,517,828 for Missouri Western State College.

—$96,000, leaving $11,136,978 for Central Missouri State University.

—$611,420, leaving $6,286,064 for Northwest Missouri State University.

—$148,500, leaving $12,033,307 for Southwest Missouri State University.

—$130,000 in a reappropriation bill for repairs to the National Guard armory at Joplin.

Bond also vetoed bills to:

—Regulate persons operating devices used to measure moisture content of grain.

—Permit firms which lease motor vehicles to elect to pay either sales tax on vehicles when purchased or to pay a tax on the amount charged on each rental or lease agreement.

—Prohibit use of inmates or patients in public or private institutions in research without the consent of the inmates, patients, guardians or relatives. Consent rules are now in effect for public institutions, but not by legislation.

—Set up a bicentennial fund for exclusive use of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission and make the commission an autonomous but temporary agency outside the control of any of the executive departments.

Female pilot was 'in the right place'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Judy Neuffer looks at herself as a woman who has been in the right place at the right time, twice.

The first was when the Navy opened flight training to women.

The second came on Sunday when she was in the pilot's seat of a Navy P3 weather reconnaissance plane which penetrated the eye of Hurricane Carmen, with its winds of 175 miles per hour.

The 25-year-old lieutenant from Wooster, Ohio, thus became the first woman pilot in naval history to fly into a hurricane's eye.

"I didn't know what to expect, but I think I can honestly say I didn't feel fear," she said. "I have lots of confidence in the aircraft and in the crew. They know their job and they know it well."

She also was helped by the commanding officer of the four-engine turboprop jet, Cmdr. Dick Sirch, an experienced hurricane hunter who supported her and briefed her on what to expect.

Sirch said she compares well with other new pilots.

"Basically, she did a super job," he said.

"When I found out I was getting a woman pilot, I expected a tomboy or a woman's libber. This is just a young lady who seriously wants to be a pilot. She knows she's being observed as a new breed, so she makes an extra effort to do as well as she can."

Lt. Neuffer has been in the Navy for four years since graduation from Ohio State University. Her first assignment was at a computer center in San Diego.

When the Navy opened its flight program to women, Lt. Neuffer, the daughter of a World War II fighter pilot, rushed to apply.

"I had spent most of my life around airports because my father has worked at or managed airports since the war. Flying's in my blood," she said.

"I was surprised when I got this assignment. But I wanted weather work, so I took the chance, and I made it."

Eagleton urges cut in budget

KIRKWOOD, Mo. (AP) — Agreeing with President Gerald Ford that federal spending must be reduced if inflation is to be curbed, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., called for a $10 billion cut in the national budget Monday.

"Inflation is the priority concern and the No. 1 enemy of the American people," Eagleton said in remarks prepared for a Labor Day picnic of Machinists Union District 837.

Calling the former Nixon Administration proposal for $305 billion in federal spending this year the largest budget in American history, Eagleton urged cutbacks in unnecessary and wasteful areas.

"You've read about some of these projects, I am sure. For example the $375,000 Pentagon study into the flight characteristic of the Frisbee," he said.

Eagleton called the Nixon Administration's recommendation for $8.4 billion in foreign aid "asinine," and said it should be slashed.

"There will be disagreement on these questions of priorities, but I am confident that under this administration they can be resolved without need of an endless round of vetoes, efforts to override those vetoes and impoundments," Eagleton said.

Eagleton will be opposed in the November election by former U.S. Representative Thomas B. Curtis, who has attacked Eagleton's Senate pending record as excessive.

Pibroch in plastic

GLASGOW (AP) — The skirl of the pipes may soon come from plastic instruments because Uganda has banned the export of the African blackwood traditionally used to make the chanter, which produces the melody.

Seumus MacNeill, principal of the Scottish College of Piping, said he has heard plastic pipes in Canada and they "seem to play just as well."

While farm prices have moved up 7.8 per cent over the last 20 years, cost of items farmers must buy to grow food for the nation has jumped 52 per cent.

Clinton man runner-up for Jaycees award

(Democrat-Capital Service)

KANSAS CITY — Harding L. Braum, Clinton, was the second runner up for the Missouri Jaycees Outstanding Farmer of 1974-1975 award. Braum was among Missouri Jaycees attending the Outstanding Young Farmers' Congress in Kansas City over the weekend.

Frank Felton, Maryville, won the top honor and Orville Blakley, Weston, was first runner-up.

Also attending the meeting was Mrs. Braum and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood, Sedalia.

Saturday's luncheon speaker for the meeting was Missouri Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Boillot. Missouri Congressman Jerry Litton also addressed the Jaycees.

The congress was sponsored by Farmland Industries, the Farm Bureau, the Soybean Association and Standard Oil.

Turkish minister seeks censorship

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's conservative justice minister, a former Moslem priest, is conducting a personal no-breasts-bared crackdown on public sex "to break the backs of those who lead youth to get drunk on lust."

Justice Minister Sevket Kazan has targeted books, newspapers, magazines and films. He set up a special government office to paint small black bands on bare breasts and bottoms in imported publications.

Kazan has the blessing of his National Salvation party, junior partner in Premier Bulent Ecevit's coalition government.

Last week he hauled into court the weekly, Yanki, because it illustrated a critical article about his efforts with a picture from a German magazine. Kazan's censors had brushed black bands on the nude backsides of seven women, but he charged the magazine with printing pornography anyway.

Gunaydin, a mass-circulation daily usually top-heavy with flesh, regularly gets in trouble with Kazan's prosecutors. Editor Necati Zincirkiran has asked that Kazan resign because "Turkey is not in the Middle Ages."

Kazan's prosecutors have overruled the seal of approval of Turkey's film censor board and banned three imported films this year. One, a tame Italian epic called "Duel on a Love Bed," was halted in the midst of an afternoon showing.

Ecevit, leader of the Republican People's party and a poet with liberal views, has cautioned his coalition partner against "overzealousness," a warning obviously pointed toward the justice minister.

A radical religious party that appeals to the devout Moslem beliefs of Turkey's peasantry, National Salvation advocates return to the strict Islamic moral code, which kept women veiled and segregated until Kemal Ataturk formed the secular Turkish republic and passed modernizing reforms in the 1920s and 1930s.

Ecevit is Ataturk's political heir and is uncomfortable with his partners, but he needs them to maintain his majority in parliament.

National Salvation has seven ministers in Ecevit's 25-member cabinet, also controlling the Interior Ministry, which administers the board of censors.

Another Salvation member, Trade Minister Fehim Adak, has held back credit for tourism projects because he feared the degradation of Turkish morals that would be caused by thousands of scantily-clad, uninhibited Westerners at beach resorts.

ONE-COAT GUARANTEE
Both of these paints are guaranteed to cover any color painted surface with one coat when applied according to label directions at a rate not to exceed 450 square feet per gallon on smooth surfaces, and not to exceed 325 square feet per gallon on porous or textured surfaces. If paint fails to cover as stated here, bring the label to your nearest Wards branch and we will furnish enough paint to insure coverage or, at your option, will refund the complete purchase price.

GUARANTEE
This paint is guaranteed to cover any color painted surface with one coat (except rough wood shingles, shakes and stucco) when applied according to label directions at a rate not to exceed 400 sq. ft. per gallon. If this paint fails to cover as stated here, bring the label of this paint to your nearest Wards branch and we will furnish enough paint to insure coverage or, at your option, will refund the complete purchase price.

HP-161: FM-Stereo, AM, Phono System

If you're looking for a big sound that comes in small packages, come listen to the SONY HP-161 Integrated Component Music System and see how well it fits in. It's a music system that's smaller than it sounds.

Radio reception on the HP-161 is superb. The tuner has a SONY FET front end for picking up weak distant stations while preventing distortion to strong local signals. A light signals when a station is broadcasting in stereo. And the solid state, all silicon amplifier driving two SONY 2 way speakers delivers a big, live-like sound.

It's the same with the phono systems. A BSR three-speed turntable with a SONY ceramic cartridge delivers the same big, rich sound just as superbly with records. Operation is automatic or manual, with a cueing lever for manual positioning.

It's big sound housed in small, attractive wood grain enclosures. With connections for tape or stepping up to 4-channel sound. All the controls you need and a removable dust cover. All put together for you by SONY. Sometimes you do get more for less. Come in and listen to the HP-161.

End night table clutter with this Very Compact Digimatic Clock Radio

SONY has designed a Digimatic AM clock radio that doesn't hog precious space. . . . The Very Compact TR-C340.

But small size doesn't mean fewer features. The TR-C340 has features of full-sized digital clock radios.

The easy to read illuminated drum type Digimatic numerals show the time in hours, minutes and seconds.

The sleep timer lets you listen to the radio for up to 60 minutes before shutting itself off automatically. With the turn of a switch, you can choose to be awakened by either the radio or the alarm.

Station tuning is simple with the large easy to read drum tuning dial. Smartly styled white cabinet, simulated walnut finish and black and chrome trim.

The Sony answer to a crowded night table Compact FM/AM Digimatic clock radio

One thing you get with the Sony 8FC-100W FM/AM Digimatic clock radio. More table space.

The compact cabinet saves table space, and looks stylish on its distinctive pedestal base.

Large illuminated numerals for easy time-reading. Sleep timer plays up to 60 minutes of music before shutting set off automatically.

And a big 3" speaker delivers fine FM or AM tonal quality—even at high volume levels.

Come in for a demonstration today.

Sony FM/AM portable comes with a bonus. Extra listening.

Because of its extremely sensitive circuitry, the Sony TFM-7250W can pull in the weakest fringe area signals—free of interference. Giving you programs you never heard before.

And with 1.2 watts (max.) of sound power through a large 4" speaker, you get big, sharp FM/AM reception.

Other features: L.E.D. (Light Emitting Diode) for easy, accurate tuning; switchable AFC for drift-free FM; two-way operation: battery or AC (AC cord built in).

More sound for your money. From Sony.

$44.95

Instant weather news from a compact Sony clock radio.

This modern Sony 3 band clock radio takes up very little space—yet it's filled with features.

The TFM-C550W receives FM, AM and continuous weather reports on a VHF weather band.

Large "Snooze Bar" turns alarm off . . . and on again 7 minutes later for deep sleepers.

Preset time once and radio turns on automatically at the same time each morning.

Plus: full feature clock; music or buzzer alarm; AFC for drift-free FM.
